Frequently asked questions

Here's what you should know about Moneris

Who owns Moneris?

Moneris Solutions Corporation is a joint investment between BMO Bank of Montreal® and another large Canadian financial institution.

Why should I choose Moneris?

Payment processing is an essential part of any business, big or small. So it's important to run and grow your business with an industry leader in card payment processing. Our top priority is to consistently provide best-in-class service and reliability that you can always count on.

What is interchange?

More than 75% of the cost of accepting credit card payments is the rate charged for the type of card you accept, such as basic or standard, premium, gold, or corporate and the way that you accept that card. This rate, called "interchange," is the same for all payment processors and is set by the card brands. Only a small portion of fees you pay for the transaction actually goes to your payment processor.³

Do I need a different terminal to accept different types of payments?

Moneris is your single point of contact for VISA, MasterCard, Discover, Amex, Interac Direct Payment, and all point-of-sale solutions.

Who can I talk to if I have any other questions about my business?

At Moneris, we are always here to help. You can either go to moneris.com to read more about our products and services, or if you have a specific question, you can call 1-866-681-4112 and speak to a Moneris Solutions Sales Consultant.
