BMO Preferred Program for Investors

The BMO Preferred Program for Investors allows investors who hold at $500,000 in assets with BMO Investments Inc. ("BMOI") (the "minimum asset threshold") to open fee-based accounts in which they may purchase F-series versions of A or T series funds managed by BMOI. Participation in the BMO Preferred Program for Investors is voluntary. Opting-in to the Program enables conversion of existing and eligible BMOI mutual fund accounts to fee-based accounts as well as the conversion of eligible mutual funds into F-series versions of those funds. Only A and T Series of BMOI mutual funds are eligible for conversion to F Series funds. G, M or R series funds are not eligible for conversion to F-series funds, however investments held in these funds are included in the calculation of the minimum asset threshold.

Preferred Group

BMOI clients are permitted to pool their BMOI mutual fund account assets with their family members, which may include their spouse, partner, parents, children, grandchildren, grandparents, in-laws, siblings and/or eligible business accounts, even in situations where none of the family members individually have assets meeting the minimum asset threshold. These family members' individual BMOI account assets may be collectively considered toward the calculation of the minimum asset threshold. Doing so, creates a Preferred Group. A lead investor is responsible for setting up/creating or dissolving a Preferred Group. Preferred Group members must explicitly authorize participation in the Preferred Group and may leave the Preferred Group at any time. If the lead investor of a Preferred Group leaves, then the Preferred Group will be dissolved but may be reconstituted with a new lead investor if the remaining family members meet the minimum asset threshold.

Fees associated with investments in Series F funds as part of the BMO Preferred Program for Investors enables investors to pay lower fees than those associated with investments in Series A and T funds held in non-fee-based accounts of BMOI.

Investment professional refers to Personal Bankers, Financial Planners, Investment and Retirement Planning and Investment Specialists that are representatives of BMO Investments Inc.
